

Kelly Wright

A tale of two cities, Kelly, a local native of Hagerstown Maryland spent his childhood and early adolescence growing-up in the notorious Congress Heights area of Washington DC. Birthed of this experience, Kelly pens messages of hope, redemption and salvation. He is truly a testimony of a “praying mother” and bears witness to the “full armor of God.”

Kelly Wright is internationally recognized as an anchor and reporter for the FOX News Channel and formerly for the 700 Club. But he's been singing professionally since he was thirteen. He started his singing career in the Church. In his secular life he even headlined at the legendary Cotton Club in New York City.

Please join us as we open our conference with an engaging conversation with Mr. Wright on Sunday, May 2, 2010 from 6 to 8 p.m.